To investigate the efficacy and safety of temozolomide plus radiation therapy in patients with newly diagnosed glioblastoma. A total of 18 patients with newly diagnosed glioblastoma were randomly assigned to receive 70 mg/m(2) temozolomide plus 50 Gy radiation (temozolomide group, N=9), or 70 mg/m(2) temozolomide plus 54 Gy radiation (standard radiation group, N=9) respectively. The temozolomide group achieved a slightly higher complete response rate than the standard radiation group [50.0% (4/8) vs. 28.6% (2/7)]. The median progression-free survival was 9.2 months, and the median overall survival was 23.7 months. The most common drug-related toxicity was leucopenia, and the incidence of leucopenia was significantly higher in the temozolomide group than in the standard radiation group (P=0.015). The incidence of leucopenia was significantly correlated with the number of treatment cycles (r=0.664, P=0.001). The temozolomide plus radiation therapy yielded better efficacy in treating newly diagnosed glioblastoma than the standard radiation therapy. The incidence of leucopenia was associated with the number of treatment cycles.Q: SQLite: How to get all column values of a table row with column index How do I get all column values of a table row with column index using SQLite in Android?
