The University of New Haven (UNH) proposes a Bridge to the Ph.D. Program, (BRIDGE) to fill a key need for the training of future female scientists in the biomedical, behavioral and clinical sciences. The BRIDGE was created in 2003-2004, at UNH and led to a partnership of UNH and the University of Connecticut (UConn) to form an improved research infrastructure at UConn that enables more students to pursue the Ph.D. at UConn and to benefit from the Ph.D. opportunities at UConn. The BRIDGE will continue to offer undergraduate students the opportunity to complete a combined Bachelor's and Master's Degree at UNH with a comprehensive plan to help them succeed in entering and completing their Ph.D. at UNH. The BRIDGE will support the advancement of graduate students in cognitive, affective and behavioral sciences to secure a Ph.D. degree from UNH. This includes support for five new, highly competitive graduate assistantships in each of the major Ph.D. programs at UNH. Our objectives are to (1) increase the number of women in the behavioral sciences Ph.D. pipeline, and (2) increase the number of women graduating from UNH. Other objectives are to decrease gender gaps in applicant pool, admission, admission rates, and graduation. The BRIDGE will be accomplished through an innovative, joint 4-year program that seeks to merge the UNH/UConn programs, establish a student advisory committee to assure optimal progress of students, and provide enrichment activities that develop student development and organizational skills, and enhance their portfolio and outreach. The BRIDGE is strongly supported by the UConn Graduate School, UConn Health, Connecticut Research Foundation, and 82138339de
