Apple macOS (10.7+). Android OS (5.0+). Android (4.0+) Amazon Fire OS (5.0+) Chrome OS (1.0+) How to make Whoopee work on the selected devices: If you have iOS device, you need to set up Apple ID for each one of your devices. This can be done with the help of iCloud. Then install Whoopee on your computer. Once it is done, you will need to navigate to your device on the main Whoopee window, tap on the "Settings" button and select "Connect via AppleID". Follow the instructions on your computer's screen and connect your iOS device. Now, on your iPhone, go to the "Settings" menu and tap on the "About" option, then "Certificate and Identify", then "Trust". After that, you need to paste your Apple ID in the "Trust" window and confirm that you are the owner of the Apple ID. If your computer is running Windows, you need to go to the Devices and Printers control panel and select the "Manage this device through iCloud" option. Once your iOS device is registered on the computer, you can start sending and receiving files between the two devices via Wi-Fi. You can access your mobile account on your computer via the "Accounts" section. You need to enter your Apple ID and tap on "Add a new account".Q: conversion of type float to type int error for whole loop I am currently learning C programming and trying to write a program which can do some operations with square numbers and then sum
