A fully featured text editor that also supports word processing in OpenOffice keymacro is a text editor with a focus on the creation of macros for various office applications. It includes advanced editing features as well as formatting and font changes for most applications. Its operation is based on a two-keyboard system where one key is reserved for macro commands while the other operates on the document. A visually appealing and highly functional text editor The editor is designed to function in both a powerful and user-friendly manner. You can start working on your document and immediately apply the changes to the new version. The tool is designed to work with files in Office Open XML format (e.g. DOCX and XLSX), as well as other widely used formats. It supports fonts like Times New Roman, Arial, Courier, Tahoma, and more. Keymacro also comes with a host of additional editing features like tables, auto fill, search and replace, text cleanup, character replace, smart formatting, and more. However, the tool lacks a built-in visual editor for presentation and graphic editing features. An open-source program that provides some of the best of all features Keymacro is open source, which means you can take a look at the code and start using it in a personalized way. For instance, you can choose to change some of the code to get an editing experience that is particularly to your liking. Therefore, you can focus on the features and editing options you want to use, without having to deal with the overall operation of the program. The most interesting aspect of the software is the fact that it's a fork of the open-source KOffice. This means that you can easily get to a complete environment that includes a spreadsheet, presentation, word processor, presentation viewer, and so on. Other features include template-based table design, a simple spreadsheet editor, advanced drawing tools, and a lot more. Also, the program supports Unicode and works with different languages such as English, French, Italian, Dutch, Arabic, Korean, Japanese, Chinese, Spanish, and more. You can find out more information at keymacro.org Great Mac apps at an affordable price Now, you can get the best Mac apps in a bundle with Download.com. I'm using the excel and cplex version of OptiMate Pro. I have tried to solve an optimization problem with the following structure (also seen in some of the textbooks): Minimize  $c^T x + d^T x^2 + e^T x^3 + f^T x^4$  subject to:  $A^T x + B^T x^2 + C^T x^3 + D^T x^4 + e = 0$  subject to:  $(A^T x + B^T x^2 + C^T x^3 + D^T x^4 + e) > 0$  subject to:  $x_1 + x_2 + x_3 + x_4 = 1$  My problem is that I need to use the nullspace of a matrix, which in this case is  $E = [-B \ -C \ -D]$ , to do my optimization. I cannot find any tools to check the rank of the matrix, so I do not know how to check that the nullspace of matrix E is in fact of the right dimension. What would be the best approach to solve this problem? A: If you are going to use Gurobi Optimizer, use the "Find Nullspaces" module. from gurobipro.gui import Model from gurobipro.util import * m = Model() a = m.addVar('x1', lowBound=0, highBound=1, sense='Binary') b = m.addVar('x2', lowBound=0, highBound=1, sense='Binary') c = m.addVar('x3', lowBound=0, highBound=1, sense='Binary') d = m.addVar('x4', lowBound=0, highBound=1, sense='Binary') e = m.addVar('constraint', sense='Linear', addVar=0, lb=0, ub=0, sense='Linear'
