WebsiteFilter is a very simple but very effective browser plug-in that enables users to filter access to an unlimited number of websites. As the name implies, the plug-in doesn't filter a site just because it's there. When the plug-in is initiated, the user must go to each website in a separate window. The user is then given a choice to allow or deny access to each site. WebsiteFilter will "block" a website from the Internet by following the mechanism of the web browser. That means that if a user selects to block the website, the website will not appear in the web browser's search or URL history. WebsiteFilter Requirements: Websites that don't meet certain criteria will be filtered out. In order to prevent websites from being filtered out, make sure the following criteria are met: - The web page has to be "clean" (with no icons, banners, advertisements, scripts, etc) - The page will have to be a standard page with a valid website address (http/https) - The page will have to be a standard web page NOT a popup, the popup page window cannot be blocked. - The page has to be open and not be in a closed status - The site should not be blocked by another form of website blocking software WebsiteFilter Limitations: Despite what may be written, WebsiteFilter is still intended as a "filter plug-in" for use with web browsers (specifically the use of Internet Explorer). The quality of WebsiteFilter is limited by the web browser which the user uses to view the blocked sites. If WebsiteFilter uses the proxy features of your web browser (IE 6, IE 5, IE 4, Netscape 7 and above), you may need to turn your proxy settings back on (via the Internet Options Control Panel). WebsiteFilter is a small program that is easy to use and will provide quick results. There are no complex setup or tuning instructions, and it works very well. The location menu on the main window provides access to the web browser so you can choose not to be blocked. It takes about 30 seconds to add, block, and unblock websites. WebsiteFilter works well with Internet Explorer, Netscape, Opera, Mozilla Firefox, and most newer Apple browsers. WebsiteFilter is freeware. WebsiteFilter creates a "custom list" in the website browser where you can easily add your favorite web sites. Click on the "browse" button to load a web page.

Website Filter is a must-have tool for every home computer user. Very simply, it blocks your home computer from accessing an unlimited number of website addresses that you add to the 'custom' list.
