The Palevo worm is a highly targeted threat that infects desktop PCs through commonly used P2P networks. Its goal is to spread computer access to hackers interested in downloading files, stealing login information, installing adware, opening IM and P2P programs to spread further, and so on. Discovered in 2009, the Palevo worm spreads on computers via peer-to-peer clients, such as iMesh or Emule, removable storage units and instant messaging applications. Find and remove the Palevo worm Once infiltrated, Palevo provides computer access to hackers interested in downloading files, stealing login information, installing adware, opening IM and P2P programs to spread further, and so on. Free Virus Removal Tool for W32/Palevo

WormMounted police had been searching for two suspects who fled the scene after allegedly ramming into a parked patrol vehicle on Conception Bay Drive. RCMP said a surveillance video captured the suspects' vehicle travelling northbound on Conception Bay Drive on Saturday. The vehicle slowed as it approached Highways 4 and 4A, then braked as it came off the roadway, police said. As the vehicle came to a stop, it reversed and struck the marked police cruiser, police said. The suspects fled the scene. The RCMP and Prince County Emergency Services issued a warning of a dangerous man and searched for the suspects in a nearby area, but the man was not located. Highway patrol officers and RCMP could be seen searching the area of the crash Sunday afternoon. Simultaneous determination of four biologically active compounds in Deutzia gracilis by high performance liquid chromatography. A rapid and simple high performance liquid chromatography method with ultraviolet detection was developed for the simultaneous determination of acacetin, emodin, isovitexin and isoorientin in Deutzia gracilis. The method involves extraction of the compounds from plant tissues with a mixture of methanol and water followed by centrifugation, prior to clean-up on a polymer support column. The compounds were separated on a Zorbax Eclipse C18 column with a mobile phase consisting of acetonitrile and 0.1% phosphoric acid (pH 3.5) (65:35, v/v) using an isocratic mode. The method has been validated in terms of linearity, repeatability, accuracy and reproducibility and the chromatographic run time was 6 min. The recoveries of the four compounds were over 90%. The quantification limits for the compounds were 0.21, 0.14, 0.28 and 0.28 mg g⁽⁻¹⁾ for acacetin, emodin, isovitexin and isoorientin, respectively. The method was applied to quantify the four compounds in

D. gracilis extracts. This study has provided a simple, rapid and effective method for the
