Android App works on both Android and iOS devices: Android 2.3+ and iOS 4+ Review: Package name: com.sunlightstudio.privatepad.privatedata FireChat - text messages, images, music and other big data are sent to and from individuals using nothing more than their own Android device. It's an app without connection fees and dedicated to improving communication. FireChat is a free app without connection fees. The application is a combination of chat and broadcast applications. The messaging system allows for one-to-one, group or public conversations while the broadcast feature allows for content to be shared with the whole world within minutes. Live and archived communication means that everyone has an opportunity to contact everyone in real time and at any time. Everyone is heard in the sense that nothing gets lost, and everything can be seen and read by everyone. Content stored on one device can be read by all of your devices. It is a simple message system which allows you to share content with anyone within 30 yards. FireChat users communicate much more, chat longer and share much more information. Instead of loading a website on each mobile device, users can send an image, video, location, contact, call or document to others. The application does not store data, but instead, sends messages to the cloud server. It keeps messages for a short time so you can be sure that all messages reach the intended recipient. If you are interested in using the app, we will provide the necessary documents in the following link: Discover PrivatePad: Create, share and secure files, text and images from right within your browser. Private Pad [Latest-2022]

Are you tired of exchanging other information online? Do you want to keep your text and file secure, so that only you and authorized users can access it, and no one else? Do you want to keep a secret between you and someone special? Private Pad is the perfect app for you. Private Pad Encryption: Encrypt any text as easily as to drag and drop. Protect any file as easily as to drag and drop. Protect a text with a password as easily as to drag and drop. Protect a file with a password as easily as to drag and drop. Simple and effective solution for maintaining your privacy levels and protecting text and files from unwanted exposure. ===== Update: Highlight all text in the document Private Pad is a simple and effective app for text encryption, that will allow you to keep the texts secure and protected from others, in a rather simple and efficient way. The features are sorted in three main categories: Text Encryption, File Encryption and Password Protection. Available in 9 languages. ===== Update: Saving and renaming texts Private Pad can save the encrypted document into the same directory as where the document was created. When encrypted with Private Pad, the texts can be renamed as you wish, but the renaming function can not be used on the files, if the text has been encrypted with a password, a new document is created, but with the same name as the old document. ===== Update: Renaming of protected text and files If you wish to rename files or texts encrypted with password, you can use the Private Pad's renaming feature. The name is generated according to the content, the length of the name is 36 chars only, which is same as the size of the password (the name of the file/text is not encrypted using a password). ===== Update: Text Encryption Private Pad will encrypt the current document you are editing, as well as any new documents you create, with the default encryption key, which is not accessible through the normal text editing functions. The encryption key is a string of 52 text characters, which is displayed in the edit window when you decrypt the text. If you wish to encrypt another document with the same key, you have to save it and exit the application, then come back and re-encrypt the new document. Entering a text encryption password, when decrypting the document, allows you to bypass the encryption key 09e8f5149f
