Â Run Plus is designed to quickly start programs you use often. Most of us have habits when using our own computer. A scenario may look like this: You start up the computer, check your mail, browse your favourite sites, start the programs you usually use at work, or at home. Run Plus helps you to do a variety of things a lot faster and more convenient. Instead of letting go of the keyboard and reaching for the mouse, just press your defined hotkey (ex.: ALT+SPACE) and Run Plus pops up. Start typing your keyword and hit ENTER. The program autocompletes your typing, so in most cases you only have to type 2-4 characters before your keyword is up and ready. After a weeks use, this will be more natural for you than using the mouse to start your favourit programs, and it's so much faster. Here are some key features of "Run Plus": · Automatic update so you will always have the latest version. · "Modern design" · Fast and easy to configure. · Easy to use wizard · Start programs, open webpages, open documents. · Send text/keystrokes to other applications. · Automatically type text you use often. · Install and Uninstall. Limitations: · 30 days trial Run Plus Demo: Try the demo for free to see how you can easily control the speed of the system, control the auto complete, see how you can start tasks and control your computer. Limitations: · 30 days trial @Martin R. I will be interested to know if it works for you; I've actually tried several of the tools on the market and they don't work well. One problem I've noticed is that every tool requires you to open a menu, and then have the menu open in the background. That means that every time you want to use the mouse, you have to open a menu window, and the tool. That's a bit tedious, so I suggest using other tools until one becomes more convenient. This software really works! It's not free but if you're serious about using your keyboard, you'll enjoy it. Windows Explorer is the interface for moving and copying data files between disk partitions. This includes the ability to create, rename, move and copy files, delete files, create, delete and rename directories, create and rename folders, create and delete file and directory links, set the permissions on a file or directory, execute programs, and more. File Explorer can be used to quickly locate, move and open existing files or directories on disk, and to copy files to other disk partitions, or network servers. Windows Explorer
