"High Quality Adapters for 30-pin Galaxy S.BUDAPEST — The Czechs told the Vatican in December that the pope should change the Roman Catholic calendar to erase the crimes of the Catholic Church during the Holocaust, allowing them to move on. The accusations were made at a news conference on Dec. 17 by the Czech Catholic Bishops Conference. According to the conference, the pope has been told "to permanently remove" the January 6, 1941, date, once inscribed on the facade of the former Nazi Sobibor extermination camp in Poland, as a manifestation of the crimes of the Catholic Church. The Holy See responded to the accusation by noting, "The relevant dates, May 1, 1940, and June 22, 1943, are mentioned in the statement and do not correspond with the dates mentioned in the request." The Bishops Conference criticized the Church for its silence on the issue and demanded that the Holy See "make a clear response." The Catholic Church is "the main protector and executor" of the annihilation of six million Jews during the Holocaust, said Thomas Grobez, the conference's president. The statement was made in reaction to several revelations concerning the Church's role in the Holocaust during the pope's recent visit to Poland. In one instance, Pope Francis told a press conference during the visit that the Church knew nothing about the Holocaust. "I never in my entire life imagined it," he said. "Holocaust was a crime that was done and, like all crimes, it had perpetrators, and the Church did not have a single specific person guilty of extermination of the Jews." In another, the pope said that the Nazis were the evil ones, not the clergy. "Maybe the devil prompted them. Perhaps they wanted to do evil," he
