narcotics agency, with police claiming NZ substances are linked to human trafficking Photo: NZ Herald The sale and supply of the psychoactive drug p-MAD, commonly known as baclofen, has been stopped by the Narcotics and Drug Dealing Crime Control (Narcopoli) Department of Greece. A media release from Narcopoli said the Greek government had banned baclofen because it "is a drug which is becoming more and more prevalent in New Zealand and probably has been linked to human trafficking." The drug is the same as the widely used drug diazepam, but it is less often prescribed by doctors and is, therefore, "difficult to detect." The Narcopoli media release said: "It is understood that p-MAD is illicitly manufactured or imported into Greece and is put onto the market by organized crime. Latest Version Celemony Melodyne 4.0 crack.Audio: From the Archives: Pretty Little Liars I haven't been as attentive to my blog as I'd hoped lately, but I haven't forgotten about you! You have not been forgotten. I've been listening to a lot of Throwback Thursday music lately, which reminds me of something I wanted to bring up. A lot of the music you hear in the show and throughout Pretty Little Liars is from the 80's and 90's. So, I thought I'd invite some of the PLL team to share some of their favorite 80's and 90's songs with you.

Today, on the blog, you have Cameron Monaghan, creator/executive producer of PLL, and Ashley Benson, an actress on the show. A few years ago, while doing research for a project I was working on, I discovered a program called IMDb TalkBack. IMDb TalkBack is a place where members of the IMDb site, like you and me, can leave questions for certain actors and actresses. We can ask questions about any aspect of the film, TV show, or our memories of the episode. The amazing Ashley Benson was the subject of one of the questions I had while listening to this episode of Throwback Thursday. As a big fan of the show, it was so cool to learn more about Ashley. She answered the question about how she wanted to be remembered as being a part of Pretty Little Liars. She also has some great advice for you about how to get into character for your own roles. In this episode of Throwback Thursday, you also have the amazing Jace3, a writer, a comedic actor, and comic artist. I don't know a ton about Jace's show, Save Me. But, I did see Jace in a couple of episodes, and he was really funny
