Q: How do I force all the static classes to use the default Serialize attribute? Visual Studio 2010 is already marking static classes like this one with the Serialize attribute: [Serializable] [MyCustomAttribute] public class MyClass { ... } I want to do exactly the same thing, but for every static class with a Serialize attribute. Is there any way to change this behavior? A: You could use a simple Roslyn script like this, to check each static class for the Serialize attribute. You may have to modify it to account for other attributes and other attributes that contain the Serialize keyword. using System.IO; using Microsoft.CodeAnalysis.CSharp.Syntax; namespace csSerializeCSharpAttributeTest { static class Program { static void Main(string[] args) { var serviceProvider = ServiceProvider.CreateDefault(typeof(IServiceProvider).FullName); var compilation = CSharpCompilation.Create("MyCompilation", syntaxTrees: serviceProvider.GetService()); foreach (var tree in compilation.SyntaxTrees) { var attribute = tree.DescendantNodes().OfType().Where(a => a.AttributeLists.Any(a => a.Attributes.Any(a.Attribute.AttributeType.Equals(typeof(SerializeAttribute))))); Debug.WriteLine(tree.ToString()); } Debug.WriteLine("Press any key to continue..."); }

What's New in the Download Adobe Photoshop Elements 8?

Note To create a new layer, choose File → New. To work on one layer at a time, switch to Layers panel view (Window → Layers). In Figure 4-7, you can see three layers, all on separate pages. In this figure, the text layer is on top of the photos and the red-color and blue-color brushes are on the bottom layer. (If they overlap, you'll have to play with the order that you click each button to see what happens.) If you click the "Make All Layers Visible" button in the Layers panel, all three layers appear on one page so you can work with them simultaneously. To duplicate a layer, hold down the Ctrl key as you click on it. Alternatively, you can click and drag the layer onto the New Layer icon at the bottom of the Layers panel. (See Figure 4-7.) When you duplicate a layer, you'll have two versions of it, so you have to choose where you want to put it: **Place the duplicate layer on the top**. This makes it easier to see and work with. **Place the duplicate layer below**. This is more commonly used. In both cases, you can control how the layers behave by opening or closing the layer's dialog box, shown in Figure 4-8. The dialog box is a new feature added in CS5. It
